

VOL. XVII.

END OF THE GREAT FUED.

HATFIELDS AND MCCOYS MADE FRIENDS BY A MARRIAGE.

The True Story of the Quarrel is Here—written in Detail.

The Execution of Ellison Mounts in Kentucky.

The McCoy-Hatfield feud, which for years has drenched the mountains of Kentucky and West Virginia with blood, has been permanently ended. Several times during the existence of the terrible strife reports of a similar nature have been circulated, only to be followed by outbreaks more bitter than before, until each faction has looked upon advances of friendly character as merely a ploy to gain an opportunity to secure an advantage in the mountain war. Peace was the result of the marriage of Frank Hatfield and Hattie McCoy, representatives of the younger element of both factions. They met in a log schoolhouse in the wilds of the Kentucky mountains several weeks ago. The place was selected owing to its isolated location and because it was an equal distance removed from the homes of the two factions. About a dozen representatives of both families were present. For two years the young couple had been corresponding without the knowledge of their families and through their advances and the efforts of mutual friends the mountain feud is ended forever.

BUT THE FRIENDLY arrangements came after years of fierce warfare, in which many lives have been sacrificed by both factions in the hope of their peculiar ideas of family honor might be maintained with becoming dignity. The first quarrel between the families was about two years. This was amicably settled after only one man had been killed. The second trouble was caused by a wayward girl, Pretty Rose Ann McCoy, daughter of old Randall, loved at first by John Hatfield, a son of Bad Hatfield. They did not but with a marriage ceremony. "Jone" was an outlaw in Kentucky. He had at that time been imprisoned for twenty years. The crime, however, were not venial in Kentucky or West Virginia. He had merely made a practice of bringing moonshine whiskey across the border. Talbot McCoy, Rose's brother, was made a deputy and set out to catch Jone. He captured him by following his sister on one of her visits to her lover. She slipped away and gave him a chance. Then Bad Hatfield gathered a posse and rescued the prisoner. After that Rose Ann lived with her lover at work with her family, until the lover killed her and her family took her back. In 1887 a political rally was held, two factions friends again until too much whiskey got into the politics. Deacon Ellison Hatfield and Talbot McCoy fought a duel with knives. It was a HORRIBLE AFFAIR.

Claims of foul play were made by both sides. Finally a McCoy onlooker shot and badly wounded Ellison Hatfield during the duel. Three McCoy boys were arrested. The Hatfields took them away from the officers and carried them (among the prisoners was a little boy) into West Virginia. Bad Hatfield led the McCoy boys. Talbot McCoy's young wife, with a baby in her arms, went on her knees to Anne Hatfield to plead for her husband's life. But the Hatfield leader could not be moved. He said with his revolver in his hand "I will not let you go until you have paid for the blood of my son." Then the two men were shot down. The little boy was at first spared. Afterward a Hatfield went back and killed him. The McCoy boys were taken into a cave by the Hatfield men. The Hatfield men were waiting for them. The McCoy boys were taken into a cave by the Hatfield men. The Hatfield men were waiting for them. The McCoy boys were taken into a cave by the Hatfield men. The Hatfield men were waiting for them.

Until 1884 no one was killed. Then Anne Hatfield planned a surprise on the McCoy boys who knew would pass along a certain road about dusk. Three men were taken, and they were killed. One being killed and two badly hurt, but they were not the McCoy. Anne was angry at having been deceived into killing the wrong men. He thought that a Mrs. Daniel and her daughter had warned the McCoy boys. Several nights later, Bad Hatfield and Tom Wallace suddenly ran for the Daniels cabin. Bill Daniel compelled to take a cooked Winchester dragged by their desperado. He was their night clothes and head daughter while. The beating was done before in the arms of a cow's tail, which Cap McCoy put from the animal in the stable of the victims. A year later "one of the women" died from the terrible beating, and the McCoy family joined Hatfield's men. After that the McCoy family joined Hatfield's men. There, then the Hatfields knelt down and solemnly begged forgiveness from their Winchester at his head. The fugitive was permitted to reach the opposite bank just as he thought himself safe. Anne cried, "Now." The next moment the fugitive dropped back into the river with three Winchester balls in his head. The Hatfields had been playing with him. They could have killed him the first time, but there was more fun in waiting. This is one of the stories much enjoyed to this day in Hatfield circles. Then some Hatfield sympathizers were captured and taken to the Pike county (Ky.) jail. This made the Hatfields "right mad" and incited that faction to a sort of revenge that horrified the people of both states. On the New Year's night following there were at Randolph McCoy's home besides himself and wife their son, Calvin and Rose Ann's seven-year-old boy, Melvin, and Alpharad, Addie and Fanny McCoy, Old Rand's daughters. About midnight the inmates were roused by a

GAZE OF HATFIELDS.

"Old Rand" made no reply to the Hatfield order to surrender. The door was first shot full of holes, then five men of the Hatfield gang used a log as a battering ram and tore the door from its hinges. Miss Alpharad, hearing Cap Hatfield's voice, and remembering that they had been sweethearts once, sprang to the door in her night clothes to appeal to him. As she appeared, Cap, from behind a tree ten yards distant, raised his rifle and fired. "You wouldn't shoot me, Cap," observed the girl calmly, but without attempting to retreat. Then Ellison Mounts shot the girl down while she continued to plead for her mother and sisters. In the meantime the house has been fired in several places, and the women told to run and try to escape to the woods. Mrs. McCoy was shot ten feet from the house. As she was supposed to be dead she was not shot again. An effort was made to have the perpetrators of this outrage extrajudicially killed, and a professedly illegal posse was organized in search of them. They killed old Uncle Jim Vance; captured Will Hatfield and Doc and Sam Mayhew; killed Andy Vance and Bill Deany, and finally captured Ellison Mounts.

THE EXECUTION OF ELLISON MOUNTS.

The prisoners were taken into Kentucky and lodged in the Pike county jail. All went to the penitentiary for long terms except Ellison Mounts. He was convicted of the murder of the McCoy girl. Feb. 18, 1890, was the date fixed for the execution. The Hatfields swore that Mounts should never hang. One hundred of the McCoy faction assembled and escorted the prisoner to a small valley surrounded by mountains peaks at the scene of his crime. A desperate fight was expected, and with cocked rifle in the hands of his executioners, Ellison Mounts was swung off. Bad Hatfield explained that the proposed rescue was for the reason that he kinder liked killing McCoy, "and if I could just shoot that"—Phillip and Old Rand, I'd go to the gallows just as sweet as ever over my sins. He was shot by a year ago Frank Phillip was shot at a dozen times by the Hatfields while he was on West Virginia soil in one of his daring attempts to arrest members of the McCoy faction. The last victim of the feud was Cap Hatfield. The circumstances surrounding his death have never been made clear. He was shot during last Christmas week, near Tag River. Anne says it was the result of a quarrel with some of his friends over a game of cards, but others assert that the murder was indirectly due to the terrible mountain feud.

Mr. Van Pelt, Editor of the Craig, Mo., Meteor, went to a drug store at Hillsdale, Iowa, and asked the physician in attendance to give him a dose of something for cholera morbus and looseness of the bowels. The message "I feel much better" the next morning that I concluded to call on the physician and get him to fix me up a supply of the medicine. I was surprised when he handed me a box of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. He said he prescribed it regularly in his practice and found it the best he could get or prepare. I can testify to its efficiency in my case at all events." For sale by A. R. Fisher.

A SERIOUS MATTER.

The Miners' Strike in Ohio County is Badly Timed.

The strike, which was inaugurated at Menckley, Reheals and Taylor Mines some weeks ago, is becoming a very serious matter. Fully four hundred men are out of employment as an immediate result of the strike, while business at the various towns tributary to the mines has been very perceptibly lessened. The cause leading up to the strike are not fully given out by the men, the immediate cause being an increase in the charge for coal. The miners demand the class of coal used by companies at 10 cents per bushel, but are paid for seventy-five cents a bushel because given for the strike. The companies do not want to lose business at this season and can better afford to close their mines and can better afford to close their mines and can better afford to close their mines.

A carpenter by the name of M. S. Powers fell from the roof of a house in East Meigs, Iowa, and sustained a painful and serious strain of his wrist, which he cured with one bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. He says it is worth $5 a bottle. It cost him 50 cents. For sale by A. R. Fisher.

Democratic Money.

Extremists and hotheads will not dominate in the councils of the Democratic party when it fixes a financial policy. Pledges by its well-digested pledges the party will keep steadily in view the use of gold and silver as the standard money of the country, the equal power of both in the payment of debts and the maintenance of the paper currency at par with and redeemable in the standard gold and silver coins. To this object Mr. Cleveland is pledged, and the Democrats of the Southwest pledged themselves in their state platforms before the Chicago convention met.

There are silver hotheads and gold hotheads. Every individual American has an unequalled right to hold any opinion concerning his money and to tell his thoughts from his home. He steps into the councils of the Democratic party of many. He will be controlled by the discerning and impartial conservatism of collected reason. The party is not a gold party or a silver party. It is a union of men who believe that a Government's duty is to provide suitable money for its people on a sound metallic basis. The business of mining silver or importing gold is for private judgment. The Government's part in the handling of metals properly consists only in keeping on hand enough to redeem all its notes and to cancel all its obligations. Hence the Democrats in the two houses, when they come together with the responsibility upon them of action for a nation, will apply the doctrine of a century to the conditions of the hour. The wisdom of the most will direct the progress of all. When the Democrats are in the majority they will occupy the largest place in the public mind, the Democratic party takes control of government again that it may do it when Jefferson succeeded Adams, the land of national centralization, from the business of the people. Jefferson said that a people cannot be both free and ignorant. The Democratic party is for the people and for the people's intelligence of the voters, cannot and will not adopt a course which is inconsistent with its every platform, with the essence of its doctrine, and with the present welfare of the country.

Not even the Force bill is more inconsistent with Democracy than is the Sherman act. The Democrat who raises a noisy howl to arrest its tottering decline only relieves the Republicans of the odium they have justly earned and weakens the faith of men in the professions of the party's conservatism.

Just as far from Democracy is the money strategy of a single gold standard.

Few Senators or Representatives elected by Democratic votes will be impelled by a pacific sentiment to oppose a suspension or repeal of the Sherman act, or will be drawn by the hasty opinions of Eastern bankers to assign a monopoly of the precious metals to gold. They believe in their sense of the gravity of the situation will rather teach them that a return to the sound system of gold and silver coins and a paper currency based upon such a basis is legislation for a Democratic period. Instead of wasting time over the organization of a contest in which the Sherman act will be "held as a hostage," the Democrats will destroy the Chicago platform and wipe out the law, in order that they may unintercepted study the monetary conditions of this and other countries, examine the relations between gold and silver and present policy of metallic coinage, supplemented with redeemable paper, which will satisfy the business intelligence of the people and restore healthy activity to the circulating medium of products. This is Democratic. Anything else is a makeshift of expediency on a par with the Sherman act.—The Republic.

Keeping a Wife Young.

A man never grows so old that he comes to enjoy the company of others, and generally the older she grows the more she enjoys it. It is almost a pity to see a man fall into a state which he explains by saying, "Oh, we are getting old and don't care for so much variety in our lives." In the pure selfishness of his soul he always speaks of "us" and "we," as if it naturally follows that because he is getting antiquated his wife must keep pace with him in his decline. Men all too often make their wives too old. It is a greater credit to a husband to keep his wife young than to make her grow old. His actions and his habits necessarily influence those of his wife. Let him keep in touch with the world, and both he and his wife will be the better and younger for it. I like to see a man proud of his wife because she keeps young.

Old age is beautiful and has its advantages, but a man makes a great mistake when he rushes a woman unnecessarily against it, and he does it most perfectly when he deprives her of those enjoyments which every man should give his wife. No sex, says so false, so hollow without one pleasure from the life of a good woman, a true wife or a loving mother. The best housewife can give I know expresses it, "I don't know a woman who is not a mother." Every day she who is a mother for the happiness of the woman of his home no more than to be in the world, yes, in our last measure.—Ladies Home Journal.

BE FRUITFUL AND MULTIPLY.

A Bible Injunction Which Has Been Observed in Many Cases.

The palm for multiple child bearing is awarded by the St. Louis Republic to Mrs. Elsworth Miller, of Cold Springs, N. Y., who has been married less than ten years, but who, within that short space of time, has become the mother of seventeen children. The last addition to this was a set of triplets, born on March 12th of this year. Mrs. Miller was married on October 10, 1883, and since that time has given birth to this numerous family, which are divided as follows: Three sets of triplets, nine; three sets of twins, six; and two singletons. Mrs. Miller is not yet thirty-one years of age. In searching the annals of the world for material that will attest the appropriateness and peculiar fitness of the above title, it is found that Mme. de la Riva, of Florence, Italy gave birth to eight children on September 9, 1607. Mme. Froweheldt, another Florentine lady, who died in 1570, was the mother of fifty-two children, no fewer than three being born at any one time, four at single births being nothing unusual with the malady, and at one time six. In Aubrey's "Natural History of Wiltshire" (England) there is an account of the Bonham family, Thomas and Edith, Edith had twins and triplets on numerous occasions, and finally attained to seven children at one time. "There is a tradition," to quote from Aubrey, "which is recorded in the parish register, that all the seven children were brought together to the font of the church and there baptized." The Gentleman's Magazine for March 17, 1798, is authority for the statement that the wife of Pierre Dulaire, of Verchod, department of Pans-Oise, France, was the mother of six children, three boys and three girls, all born at one time. Mrs. J. M. McElmore, who lived at Texarkana, Ark., in the year 1888, had become the mother of a family of nine children, all within the space of three years, the last arrival being a trio of girls. Mrs. Phoebe Lynch, who was living at Seymour, Ind., in the same year (1888), had seven children at one birth, eighteen months apart. The last four, two boys and two girls, were born on April 30, 1888.

PRIMARY ELECTION.

Saturday, September 2, Is the Day Set in the Tenth Senatorial District.

Pursuant to a call of W. K. Barnes,
Chairman of the Tenth Senatorial District of Kentucky, the committee met at the Tenth Senatorial District of Kentucky,
Saturday, September 2, at 10 a. m., consisting of three members as follows, viz:
W. K. Barnes, chairman and member from the county of Breckinridge; Claremont Street, secretary and member from the county of Hancock; and J. E. Wood-folk member from the county of Meade.

The object of the meeting was stated by the chairman and the following resolutions offered, read and approved:

WHEREAS, It appearing necessary that an election be held to decide who will be the Democratic nominee for the office of State Senator in the Tenth Senatorial District of Kentucky to be held in the coming November election, therefore be Resolved, that the means of determining the claims of the Democratic party for standard bearer in the ensuing November election, be ascertained by a primary election in strict compliance with the law, be it further resolved that said primary election be held on Saturday, Sept.

Resolved, that all candidates desiring to present their claims to the Democratic nomination on or before August 2, 1906, shall be permitted to file in the election, by Stewart, his application to Clarence Montgomery, Sec'y, Secretary of said district.

Resolved, that the papers of the district and the following resolutions, be published.

This July 15, 1906.
W. K. Barnes, Chairman.
CLARENCE STREET, Secretary.

GARFIELD.

A grand picnic at this place this month. All invited to attend.

Miss Katie Board, who has been a teaching school in Harlanburg, returned home last Monday.

Mr. Forest Haynes, of Harlanburg, was in our midst yesterday. Forest hasn't forgot how to talk and be sociable.

Farmers are about through harvesting their grain in our community. It is a contagious complaint with them about the warm weather.

Mr. George Norton, of California, came home yesterday to visit his parents. It is rumored that he is here to keep one of our Kentucky girls from being an old maid.

Two of Bewleyville's most charming girls, Miss Victoria and Lena Payne, who visiting relatives and friends in our neighborhood. We gladly welcome such jolly girls.

Miss Edna and Ada Board, two jolly young ladies, who have been visiting Miss Annie Board, for the past two weeks, returned to their home Sunday.

Quite a large crowd of teachers came upon the east-bound train from Harlanburg last Monday morning. Among the number that I noticed was Mr. Eugene Gilliland and sister, and a number of others that seemed bound for their homes.

The highways all lead to Sulzer's buyways.
A strike in bargains will be found, July 20th, at Sulzer's.
"All aboard" for Sulzer's Columbia Day, July 20th.
Julius Nolle is at his post again after an illness of two weeks.
Clement Stiff, of Stephentown, went to Chicago last Saturday.

Have you a bicycle? If so, join the parade to-morrow.—Sulzer's.
Miss Nellie Moreman went to Long Grove last Saturday to visit friends.
Barbecue, at LaJette Woods, August 12th.
Hicks & Pike.

The girl or boy having the most comical costume in Sulzer's parade gets the bundle carrier.
Miss Cora B. Claycomb, of Owensboro, visited friends and relatives here several days last week.

R. L. Dunn, of this city, got the contract for building the new school house.

Dr. Milner was called to Garfield last week to see Mrs. Mary Johnson Board, who is quite sick.

See the show windows to-morrow. You will find them in keeping with the occasion.—Sulzer's.

It is reported that a little child of Till Groves, Tinsmith, was bitten by a mad dog one evening last week.

Bring the little folks to see the animal balloon ascension. See the little child who lost his foot in the street. Sure shot—Sulzer's. Legions of troops—Sulzer's. Hospitality extended at their—Sulzer's.

Master Thomas Hodge, of Henderson, passed up on the train Saturday to visit his aunt, Mrs. Jennie Phillips, Brandenburg.

Amadea, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Barrett, of Louisville, died at the county residence of Mr. John Barke, July 10th.

Get your bicycles out, boys, early Thursday morning, and come around to our warehouse, where the procession will start from.—Sulzer's.

Those curious balloons in the shape of elephants, pigs, fish, and other animals, will amuse you. Remember they will go promptly.—Sulzer's.

The Meade County Sunday-school Convention will be held with Buck Grove church, Thursday, August 17th. Program will be published next week.

Mr. H. R. Deane, of Rock Vale, was in the city last Thursday on business. He reports crops as being in good condition in his neighborhood, but beginning to need rain.

Mrs. T. G. Hill, who has been visiting friends and relatives at Henderson for several weeks, returned home last Wednesday accompanied by Miss Ella Hill and Ota Chemnitz.

Misses Mattie and Lulu Hook, of Hardinsburg, who have been visiting the family of D. B. Hall at Evansville, Ind., returned home Sunday accompanied by their cousin, Miss Nannie and Elizabeth Hall.

There were no services in the Elm-street Methodist church last Sunday because of the absence of Rev. Morrison. He was called to Christian county a few days before to see a sick niece, who was not expected to live.

Sulzer's were busy yesterday decorating their large store, preparatory to their great clearance sale tomorrow. Their help from the Cannellon store was arriving, and it can be confidently asserted that everything will be in tip-top shape for the occasion.

A few light showers within the last few days have revived vegetation somewhat in this vicinity, though they did not serve to cool the atmosphere to any considerable extent. The thermometer still continues to register up in the nineties.

Communications from Beech Fork and Preston went to the waste basket this week because no name of writer accompanied them. We positively will not devote space to them, and correspondents should bear this in mind. We must know whose communications we are publishing.

If there is anything in good looks making men happy the men in the Webster neighborhood ought to be the happiest in the land. The spread at the Sunday-school Convention held there last Thursday was the most delightful the News has ever struck. It was not only well served, but there was a balance of it.

Try the date fruit at the City Bakery. J. W. McKay went to Ekron Saturday. Ice cream constantly kept at the City Bakery. Judge Yule will be at Garfield next Saturday.

28 bread tickets for one dollar at the City Bakery.

Ice cream at C. C. Martin's every afternoon and night.

A wholesale of bargains, Columbia Day.—Sulzer's.

Watch for the parade. It will amuse you.—Sulzer's.

Come early and stay all day, to-morrow.—Sulzer's.

A chance of lightning—Sulzer's big clearance sale, July 20th.

There will be a picnic at Long Lick church, Saturday, August 12th.

Miss Evelyn Hicks and Lydia Graham attended the picnic at Ekron Saturday.

Are you out of shirts? If so, examine our big bargain lot, to-morrow.—Sulzer's.

A younger brother of Dr. Lannan was the doctor's guest at the Cloverport Hotel last week.

Alfred Compton and sister, Miss Jessie, of Allen, Texas, are visiting relatives at Clinton Mills.

Miss Ida Jarrett, of Stephentown, was in the city last week visiting friends and relatives.

Mr. Alfred Oelze and family went to the World's Fair Monday. They will be absent two weeks.

Mr. Joel H. Fox and Mr. Richard Adkinson are both announced in this issue for School Superintendent. They are both nice young men and well qualified for the position.

The Catholic church at Hardinsburg on July 20th promises to be no small affair. The friends of that denomination there are putting forth their best efforts to make it a big success. It will draw a large crowd.

Col. Bennett H. Young.

This distinguished gentleman will arrive in this city on Wednesday, July 21st, and will deliver his celebrated lecture, "Two Years in the Confederate Service," that evening at eight o'clock at the Presbyterian church. He will be accompanied by the Confederate Quartermaster, and by his manager, Horace S. Brown.

It is superfluous for us to say anything of Col. Young. We can say nothing of his fame nor detract from his worth. He is a littérateur, and can bring into his lecture all that "saint, sage or sophist ever writ." He is a business man of large enterprises and has a vast store of knowledge on all such subjects; he is a lawyer, and will appear with him, has been warmly commended by the press, and we cannot fail to spend a most delightful evening.

We trust a large audience will greet and entertain him, and the Club when they come. One-half the price is instructed to the Presbyterian church for erecting its new building.

MISS EDDIE LEWIS, of Garnettville, is visiting Miss Fannie W. Childs this week.

Mr. T. W. McCann goes to Ekron in a few days to live.

Miss Nellie B. Lewis, of Brandenburg, is visiting Miss Eva M. Carrigan this week.

Dr. Harris Kelly, of Louisville, is visiting the Mumford family.

Mrs. Wm. Wright is very sick at this writing and Miss Polly Brown is very ill.

We saw our old friend, and J. Brown up at the Ekron picnic last Sunday. He has spent some time in the Windy city looking at the sights.

Misses Nellie Lewis, Eva Carrigan, Ellen Mumford and Dr. Kelly attended the Sunday School convention at Webster last week, and report it quite a success.

Well, we attended, and an happy to say, enjoyed, the picnic at Ekron last Saturday. It was quite a success, and we saw many new faces. The picnic was very much enjoyed by the people of the World's Fair.

We may judge how they put things through at that town.

A young man from Andyville spent several days last week walking upon one of Guston's "Bonny" lasses. Come again, young friend, and get acquainted with some more of our girls.

On last Sunday night a young man of this vicinity drove out to call on some young ladies and before he had driven half way home he discovered the collar was missing from his horse. He has not yet returned, and it is a kindness to say that everything will be in tip-top shape for the occasion.

The Result

Of our inventory of stock shows that we have too many goods on hand and that something has to be done to move it faster. We have consulted the steam gauge, and though the pressure is already pretty high we have decided to put on a little more steam—so here goes for another pull on the throttle, and the "Old Reliable" will move our stock still faster. Get our prices for the best Clothing in town and you will be sure to buy now.

WEST VIEW.

The wheat crop proved to be good in this vicinity.

Miss Esau Matthews, of this place, is visiting friends in Fordville.

A good rain would be a welcome visitor in this part of the county.

Rev. B. A. Gindiff is in a protracted meeting at Cave Spring church.

Dr. McDaniel, of McDaniels, passed through here today, en route to Hardinsburg.

Miss Nellie Hunter and her brother, Vernon, are visiting their sister, Mrs. Sam Henninger, of this place.

The oat crop is reported not as good as expected. It owes its shortness to the rust which is a giant evil to the cereal family.

We hear some talk of Mr. Joel Pile becoming a candidate for the office of County Superintendent of Public Instruction.

If this be true we are ready to say much for Mr. Pile. We think he has many friends who will stand by him in the office. If the right to vote was given to the fair sex Mr. Pile would come in smiling.
